

Los Angeles Times

People

August 14, 2005

IN REAL ESTATE

Betty Graham, President and COO of the Greater Los Angeles Company of Coldwell Banker, and Stan Richman, manager of the Beverly Hills North office, congratulate Kathy Villa on celebrating 20 successful years in real estate. Kathy's first year was unique, as she represented the buyer in the second largest sale in history at that time. She has gone on to sell several homes featured in the Great Estates of Beverly Hills book. Kathy has represented major celebrities, CEOs of major corporations, and buyers and sellers in all price ranges from the Hollywood Hills to Malibu. Dedicated to her community, Kathy served as director of the Beverly Hills Board of Realtors and actively sponsors various charitable organizations including Children Uniting Nations, World Vision, Los Angeles Mission and Lange Foundation. Kathy has just received the honor of being listed in the Who's Who Registry for 2005-2006. "Clients can count on me for support, diligence, commitment and the ability to connect with their vision. Honest is my reality, and experience is my real knowledge," says Kathy. If you would like to be shown a different side of real estate, give Kathy a call at 310-777-6352.

Kathy Villa
Coldwell Banker Beverly Hills North